

WONDERFUL CURES

Performed by Father Mollinger
Draw Crowds to Troy Hill.

NOW SUMMONED BY THE POPE

A Woman Made to Walk Who Had Not Had the Use of Her Legs Eleven Years—No Money, No Money, but the Work is Done Grateful People.

PITTSBURGH, June 11.—Father Mollinger, the famous faith cure priest, Allegheny City, will leave for Troy Hill on Monday. The cause of his sudden departure is said to be a summons from Rome to administer to the Pope, who said to be very sick. The reverend father refused to affirm or deny the story, but said he had an important mission in Europe, and that in all probability he would leave on Monday. The fame of the curative powers of Father Mollinger has brought to this city 250 people from all parts of the country for treatment. This morning nearly 200 cripples and blind persons arrived at the Union station bound for Troy Hill to try the faith cure. By Saturday, which is "St. Anthony's day," the will be from ten to fifteen thousand people here. The applicants come from all classes and religions, and many stories of wonderful cures are told.

The Pittsburgh Dispatch of yesterday says: Much skepticism has been expressed, both in public and private, as to the value to be placed upon reports of cures effected by Father Mollinger, but an occurrence happened at 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon in the chapel at Troy Hill while a Dispatch reporter was present about the genuineness of which there can be no doubt. Mrs. Francis Heintz is a middle aged lady from Waterloo, N. Y., who eleven years ago was afflicted with a complaint which deprived her of the use of her lower limbs. Since that time she has been a confirmed invalid, moving about in a wheeled chair and being able to stand up only when supporting herself by catching on to something with her hands. All her life, as she related last evening, she was a devotee of St. Anthony, and made frequent recourse to that saint for succor in her infirmity. She believed that if she could see Father Mollinger he could at least render her some assistance, and finally, accompanied by her brother, Christian, and a young lady of some fifteen summers, Mrs. Heintz left her home, arriving on Troy Hill last Saturday.

AN OCCUPANT OF A WHEELED CHAIR. It was not until Monday she commenced performing the religious course which Father Mollinger prescribes for devout Catholics. This, as has often been described, includes attendance at mass and preparation for Holy Communion to be received on one of the three days' attendance at mass. Mrs. Heintz was present at mass on Monday and Tuesday, and received, in common with the others present, the blessing which Father Mollinger bestows on those who desire to see him. On each of these occasions she had to be carried from her chair to a seat in church.

The throng of people who crowded around the priest all day yesterday was the largest ever seen on the hill, and was not until the afternoon that Mr. Marshall was able to get an audience for his sister with Father Mollinger. The lady was wheeled to the door and carried by two men into the office where the reverend healer gives each person a hearing. Mr. Marshall subsequently related to the Dispatch reporter what transpired in the room.

"Father Mollinger asked my sister," he said, "as he asks everybody, what ailed her. She replied that she had been unable to walk for eleven years, and thought if she paid a visit to St. Anthony's Church she might get relief. 'Why, you can walk,' the priest said to her, putting his hand on her head. 'Get up and try.' My sister shook her head hesitantly. 'Go on,' said Father Mollinger, 'get up and walk out and in,' and then my sister, in obedience to the order, actually rose from the chair and walked out, leaning on my arm, with the priest following, saying: 'Here! I told you she could walk.' We were not five minutes in the room altogether. We were not asked for any money, nor did I ever hear of anyone who was. The only caution Father Mollinger gave my sister was not to try to walk too much at first, lest she should tire herself."

ABLE TO WALK WITHOUT AID. The reporter encountered the lady and her brother in the midst of a group that was marveling at the cure which had been effected. Mrs. Heintz had been wheeled from the church on her way home. On the suggestion of some one she was wheeled back to the church, to enable her to pay a visit to St. Anthony's shrine, in one corner of the edifice. On arriving at the flight of stone steps at the entrance, Mrs. Heintz arose from the chair without assistance, and walked up the steps with unflinching tread, leaning on the arm of her daughter, and then advanced without stopping along the aisle to the shrine. She returned after a few minutes, her arm resting lightly within that of her daughter, a frail girl, whose support, if necessary, would hardly have been of use.

While the party was returning to its stopping place, at Henry Moore's, corner of Lowry and Loring streets, Mr. Marshall was questioned regarding his sister's ailment. The gentleman is a well known citizen of Waterloo, whose statements cannot be doubted.

"For eleven years before today," he said, "my sister could not take a step without holding to something with both hands, and in recent years if she tried to stand up she would fall in a heap on the floor. Doctor after doctor has been called in in vain, and when Mrs. Heintz decided to see Father Mollinger it was a last chance. For the last two years she has been reading the life of St. Anthony and his works and had implicit belief in him."

"I came to Father Mollinger," said Mrs. Heintz, "with a firm faith that he could cure me."

Mrs. Heintz was so astonished, nevertheless, at her wonderful recovery that she hardly had time to fully realize what it meant to her.

"Don't you ever remember of your mother ever walking?" was asked of Mrs. Heintz.

"Oh, yes! It was the first thing I do remember, to see mamma going around with a crutch or stick. But that was years ago, and lately she could not even support herself even with crutches, and would fall if she tried to walk even a step. Recently she had given up all effort, and has not been known to stand up for a moment."

There was nothing else talked about last night on Troy Hill than Mrs. Heintz's wonderful recovery. And there are more people up there now than can be accommodated in three of Pittsburgh's largest hotels. Where they all find room is a mystery. One of the boarding houses has sixty-eight persons, another thirty-four, another fifty, another forty-two, and so on. Every second house has one or more temporary tenants. One boarding house has had erected a large tent in the garden, used as a dining room, while the rest of the house is filled with cots. From 9 o'clock yesterday morning until late into the afternoon every side of the church was besieged with pilgrims seeking for a chance to see Father Mollinger. While a crowd of ten deep crushed up against the door, others pressed up to the windows, and sometimes got in through them. Around the yard groups were sitting, exchanging experiences and wondering when they would see the priest. Some of them had been on the hill since Saturday, and had not got in. And when Father Mollinger closed his office, about 4 o'clock, thoroughly worn out, there were as many patients outside as had passed through during the day. Several carriage loads of people arrived during the afternoon, and the hackmen were at their wits' ends, driving around from place to place seeking room for them.

CATHOLIC INDIAN SCHOOLS.

An Understanding Reached Between the Commissioner and the Catholic Bureau. WASHINGTON, D. C., June 11.—During the last two years the relations existing between Indian Commissioner Morgan and the Catholic Bureau of Indian missions have been somewhat strained. This difficulty has its origin in the Catholic opposition to Mr. Morgan's policy of substituting government schools for denominational schools on Indian reservations. Since that time there has been no personal communication between the commissioner and Father Stephen, the head of the Catholic bureau. Under these circumstances the disbursement of the large fund paid by the government through the Catholic bureau for carrying on the Catholic mission schools, has been attended with difficulty, and at times with serious embarrassment. Finding that their work was retarded by the continuance of this condition of affairs, Rev. Father Chapelle, D. D., who was in charge of the bureau during the absence of Father Stephen in Europe, has had a conference with Mr. Morgan at which an amicable understanding was reached. Mr. Morgan, however, plainly stated that while the number of contract schools would be continued during the next year, as directed by recent legislation, no new school would be authorized.

Women and Immigration.

WASHINGTON, D. C., June 11.—Mrs. Charlotte Smith, President of the Woman's National Industrial League, has written a letter to President Harrison, earnestly urging the appointment of two women on the Board of Commissioners to investigate the emigration problem in Europe. The letter calls attention to the great immigration of women of all classes into the United States from Canada and Europe, many of whom, it is asserted, are brought here for immoral purposes. Great numbers of them, it is also alleged, are imported to take the places of American women in mills and factories and clothing establishments at greatly reduced wages. The smuggling of Chinese into the United States and the displacement of American help by this cheap labor is spoken of. It is urged that female inspectors would be able to greatly aid the American working women in their struggle for a livelihood and do better duty than men.

Lacey and the Keystone Bank.

WASHINGTON, D. C., June 11.—Mr. Lacey, Comptroller of the Currency, has completed his report in regard to the Keystone National Bank of Philadelphia, and will submit it to the President this morning or to-morrow. It is a very long and exhaustive document, and gives a detailed and circumstantial account of the comptroller's action in the matter, together with the reports received from the examiner in charge on which such action was mainly based. The President will transmit it to the Mayor of Philadelphia as a full and complete response to the resolutions of the common council.

Another Bank Move in Philadelphia.

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., June 11.—District Attorney Graham has filed in court on behalf of the commonwealth, a suggestion for a writ of quo warranto against the Camden, N. J., National Bank asking the circuit to order the officials to show cause why their branch office in this city should not be closed. Judge Arnold has allowed the quo warranto, making it returnable in ten days from the time of service. It is claimed that the New Jersey bank has no authority or power to establish a branch in this State.

Fugitive Murderer Caught.

St. Louis, June 11.—A dispatch says that Buttig, the wife murderer, who escaped from Savannah, Mo., jail while under sentence to be hanged, has been captured by a Pinkerton detective in Galveston, Texas. He will be brought back and sentenced to death under habeas corpus proceedings.

Rockefeller Is Not Ill.

CLEVELAND, O., June 11.—The report telegraphed from Cleveland that John D. Rockefeller is seriously ill in this city is untrue. He is here at his summer house, Forest Hill, as usual at this time of the year, and while he has been indisposed for a few days, is not bedfast or in the least danger.

Hardware Failure.

WILLIAMSPORT, Pa., June 11.—McGill & Welteroth, hardware and stove dealers have assigned. They claim that their assets will cover their liabilities.

REMARKED BY R. C. Joiner, of Allen P. O., Hillsdale Co., Mich.: "Nothing gave me rheumatism such quick relief as Dr. Thomas' Electric Oil—believe it infallible for rheumatism." DAW

"Married Women in Fiction" is the title of a recent publication. Fiction in married women would probably furnish material for a more imposing volume.

Eupespy.

This is what you ought to have, in fact, you must have it, to fully enjoy life. Thousands are searching for it daily, and mourning because they find it not. Thousands upon thousands of dollars are spent annually by our people in the hope that they may attain this boon. And yet it may be had by all. We guarantee that Electric Bitters, if used according to directions and the use persisted in, will bring you Good Digestion and oust the demon Dyspepsia and install instead Eupespy. We recommend Electric Bitters for Dyspepsia and all diseases of Liver, Stomach and Kidneys. Sold at 50 cents and $1 per bottle, by Logan Drug Co., Druggists.

BELLAIRES.

All Sorts of Local News and Gossip from the Glass City.

George Poorman, of the Tribune, is on the sick list.

The girls of the graduating class had their pictures taken in a group yesterday. The boys did not show up.

W. J. McLean, of this city, got the contract for the G. A. R. memorial hall at Ironton, being the lowest bidder.

The track of the Bellaire Driving park is in excellent condition and is being used almost hourly by the various horsemen.

Belmont Park will no doubt be well patronized by Bellaire people. The excursion boat and barge were here yesterday.

Dougherty & Co. are using on the streets a new improved roller, arranged so that it can be raised and lowered and made heavy or light as desired.

The Belmont County Commissioners contemplate contracting with the Cleveland authorities for working this county's criminals there in the work house.

William Chambers, a Cleveland & Pittsburgh conductor, who was hurt by a fall two weeks ago, is still unable to get around, his side and spine paining him still.

Thomas Ault and wife were in attendance at the Steubenville Seminary commencement, where their youngest daughter, Lizzie, graduated with honors on Wednesday.

Fred C. Scherer, of this city, and Miss Belle J. Irwin, a niece of O. J. Blackburn, of this city were married at St. Clairsville. Mr. Scherer is the well-known music teacher.

Charles Burns, the man who ran a splinter in his hand, is in a precarious condition. Amputation has not been performed, the doctor and all saying they can save the arm.

The design of the new tool house authorized by the City Council for the Park is very pretty. It will be surmounted with a tall spire covered with all kinds of ornamental work.

The tie handlers began yesterday loading railroad ties, the creeks and rivers having run out, letting many thousands of ties down. A total of 62,000 ties are to be loaded here this season.

The farmers in this vicinity report fruit in abundance, corn growing to beat the world, and the wheat nearly ready to cut. The oats hereabouts will be short. They say the weather never was better for the growing corn.

The Pittsburgh, Ohio Valley & Cincinnati Railroad Company is using all the slag made by the Benwood furnace at Martin's Ferry. The tracks are moved weekly to suit the runs, and hundreds of tons of it loaded and used for filling.

John Dunlap, who lives at Wallace's Dam, was in town yesterday looking for his wife. She was last seen near the C. & L. W. crossing. Her disappearance is a mystery. She was dressed in a cross-barred calico dress, and was carrying a basket and an umbrella.

Jacob Heatherington, when asked how much money he had to give for Bellaire's advancement, said he had no cash with him, but would give them the best lot he had. The lot can be sold for $300 at any time. The good work goes on. Another meeting was held last night and the subject of the boom, talked over. A great deal of good work has been done. Wheeling wholesale men responded very liberally, and two men there gave liberal sums. All want to see the city boom, and they are going at it the right way this time to make a success.

MARTIN'S FERRY.

The State Convention—Social and Personal Affairs.

Yesterday in the Standard mill a roll was broken on No. 5.

The Standard mill will make 500 tons of iron before it shuts down, July 1.

James Ralston is now Deputy State Councillor of the Junior Mechanics.

The factory at the Northwood glass works will shut down next Saturday.

Mrs. C. W. Shreve was severely hurt on Wednesday evening by falling down a stairway.

George W. Arbaugh, Jr., has about recovered from a severe attack of typhoid fever.

Mrs. Rev. G. P. Doepkin, who has been quite sick with typhoid fever, is convalescent.

Misses Bess Brady and Jess Sheets will be home from school at Delaware next Wednesday.

Last evening Miss Dot Lewis entertained a party of friends very pleasantly at her home on Washington street extension.

Mrs. George Jensen, Miss Blanche Grove and Miss Cecil Mitchell, of St. Clairsville, are visiting Dr. and Mrs. B. O. Williams.

The display of hammocks at the Post-office newstand attracts much attention. The line is the largest, finest and best in Martin's Ferry.

Mr. John Hatch and Miss Susan Greer were quietly married at the home of the bride's parents on Washington street last evening by Rev. I. S. Winters.

George Maxon, the popular conductor on the Martin's Ferry and Bellaire passenger train on the C. & L. W. railroad, is enjoying a deserved vacation of two weeks.

Fred Northwood, who recently came over from England to visit his brother Harry Northwood, likes this country so well that he has decided to stay. He will take a good position in a dry goods store in Wheeling.

B. Exley & Co. have commenced the erection of a six-roomed house in Zetaville for James Gardner, and in McSwor's addition for Mrs. McSwor, and a six-roomed residence on Walnut street for M. Bartholomew.

Much interest is taken in the Ohio Republican convention to be held at Columbus next Tuesday and Wednesday, at which Major William McKinley will probably be nominated for Governor. The Belmont county delegates leave on Monday and will be accompanied by a number of prominent Republicans who will go to see the fun.
